Senior Class Prophecy

Being tired of the daily routine of civilization, we decided to take a tour of the darkest, densest, and most mysterious part of Africa..... Voo Doo Land.

Upon arrival, we were met by Pat Zeigler and Kathy Kelly, who were to be our guides. We were first taken to the beautiful and impressive hut of Roxie Yake, governor of the land. Here we met her loyal and devoted advisors, Jean Lewis, Mary Ann Settlemyre and Marcella Hefner. Governor Yake then took us on a special tour in her custom-built Rolls Royce, and to our surprise, Stan Landrum was the Chauffeur.

At the first corner we saw the Hilley Construction Company, owned and operated by Diana Hillegas and Connie Mickley, building the mud hut and gorilla skin cabinets for Ronnie Mason's Head Hunter's House, which we then toured. After talking with Mr. Mason we discovered that Ronnie Kimmel and Dick Goebel were Gold Star members. They had earned this honor by coming the closest to capturing the main prey, Nikita Castro.

The next place we visited was the Oga Waga Reservation. As we arrived, the speaker, Ray Gordon, was just finishing his lecture on "The Arts of Cannibalism." Mr. Gordon's most enthusiastic listener seemed to be Ed Hacker. Why??? We still haven't figured that out yet. As our stomachs began to growl with hunger, we were introduced to Tom Oldfield, the leader of the tribe. Much to our delight he invited us to stay and dine with him and his harem. Among them we recognized Carol Bryant, Pat Oden, Leah Glascock and Janet Gray. The main dish tasted a bit peculiar, so we asked what we were eating. After he told us what it was, we decided we were not as hungry as we thought. Would you be if you were eating the arm of Charles Milholland?????

Next we were shown some of the farms owned by Jerry Miller. On one particular estate, Bill Elett and Bob Emley were taming python snakes they had taken from the chemistry laboratory. After the taming of these overly friendly snakes, they were transferred to Harper's Folly, owned and operated by Kay Harper. We found her diligently hurrying to finish the milking of her snakes, because Gary Mickley was soon due to pick it up. Marlene Reifert, who had brought along her pet leopard, Puddles, was helping Miss Harper meet the pick-up deadline.

As our tour was continued we saw Wayne Whitney, who was mumbling in Latin to his old and decrepit elephant being left far behind by Dick Riggars, who was steering his late model red and white convertible trunk elephant. Next we saw Jack Hiple leisurely swimming among the alligators in "Last Chance" swamp. The following sight was Ed Waters tediously trying to measure the length of a hair from the skull of Kathleen Orr. We inquired about Miss Orr and it seemed that Jim Durham, the local witch-doctor, had operated on her eye, but the spear slipped. After that bit of encouraging news, we decided to continue on.

Last Will and Testament

I, Nancy Alford, will to Pat Rosen my ability to put thumbtacks on Mr. Geis' chair and never get in trouble. (He likes rotten apples too!)

I, Glen Beady, will my ability to sleep sound in government class to Jim Spath.

I, Carol Bryant, will my ability to get good grades in government class to Jerry Russo.

I, Rex Clark, will my box of No Doz pills to Mike Gamble. (Make sure that you use them for night driving).

I, Jim Durham, will my ability to go last in the lunch line every day from Mrs. Hick's class to Daryl Cobbs. (Hope you don't starve to death).

I, Bill Elett, being of sound mind and body (?) will to Gene Everett my athletic ability. (Take care of it GENE, it can go a long way out).

I, Bob Emley, will to Dick Zahm my old hot rod parts. (Don't let that Ford get away from you Dick).

I, Leah Glasscock, will my golden throat to Sandy Bunker. (Be sure to gargle it Sandy).

I, Dick Goebel, will my ability to talk in Mrs. Hick's class and never get away with it to Gary Bruch.

I, Ray Gordon, will my ability to study to Ron Eltzroth.

I, Janet Gray, being of sound mind do hereby will my ability to borrow money from Mr. Brown one year and pay it back the next year to Karen Fisher.

I, Ed (Garl) Hacker, will my size 15 shoe to Bob Hoch. (I hope it fits).

I, Kay Harper, will to Pat Cotton my ability to attend half of Roanoke's basketball games and half of Township's games.

I, Barbara Harrell, will my careful driving ability to Pat Elzey. (Watch out for those cops).

I, Marcella Hefner, being of sound mind do hereby will my typing and shorthand ability to Ann Willour.

I, Diane Hillegas, will my driving ability to Vicky Ramsey. (Watch out for those "cherry tops.")

I, Jack Hiple, will my physique to Jim Vollmar.

I, Kathy Kelly, will my ability to glide through stop signs and not get caught to Joy Stech.

I, Ron Kimmel, will my flute playing ability to Mike Greene.

I, Margaret Ann Krider, will my ability to get kicked out of Mr. Goslee's class to Gaye Goebel.

I, Dick Lahr, will my ability to teach mechanical drawings to Sally Gentis.

I, Stan Landrum, will my statistics pencil to Rick Hahnert. (Keep it sharp).

I, Jean Lewis, will my ability to laugh in shorthand class and not have Mr. Brown kick me out, to Marcia Steiner.

I, Ronnie Mason, will to Dave Kreiger my ability to play ping pong and also my ability to get beat.

I, Connie Mickley, will my quiet ways to Paula Gamble.

I, Gary Mickley, will my blue Hot Rod to John Coolman if he can keep it on the road.

I, Chas. Milholland, will to Dave Gooley my ability to blow smoke rings. (Look out Dave, Coachy's watching you).

I, Jerry Miller, will my quiet and confined manners in government class to Bob Hoch. (Don't let them get out of hand).

I, Sharon Miller, will to Betty Beady my ability to have the color of hair I want, naturally.

I, Tom Miller, will to Robert Brunner my excess speed and safe driving habits.

I, Pat Oden, will to Kathy Russo my ability to keep a diamond ring for one week. (Good Luck!)

I, Tom Oldfield, will my ability in sports, my good looks, my high grades, my marvelous personality and most of all, my modesty to Bob Steele.

I, Kathleen Orr, will to Becky Merryman my ability to put her hair in a French roll while doing the "Twist."

I, Lois Paxton, will my ability to have all the teachers love me, to Karen McMahan.

I, Jerry Phillips, will to John Wires my ability to drive fast and skip class without getting caught.

I, Gerald Quick, will to Jim Vollmar my big bad "six" cylinder Chevy. (Don't wind it past 90 in low gear).

I, Marlene Reifert, will my ability to slide down every banister in school without getting caught to Sally Gentis.

I, Dick Riggars, will my ability to always ditch the cops when they're after me, to Richard Meyers.

I, Mary Ann Settlemyre, will to Carol Amundson my ability to meet boys and to date them.

I, Mary Ella Shiveley, will my height to Carol Weaver. (I hope it comes in handy).

I, Steve Spickelmier, will my second name "Big O" to Rex Gordon.

I, Jerry Wagner, will my ability to sing bass to Gene Everett.

I, Ed Waters, will my job of cleaning the audio-visual room to Kenny Wagner. (Keep it clean Kenny).

I, Wayne Whitney, will my ability to get along with Mr. Brown to Dave Gooley.

I, Pam Wiley, will my secretarial ability to Paula Gamble. (Take good care of it, Paula, I may need it).

I, Roxie Yake, will my natural brown hair to Carolyn Hawenstein. (O.K. Red?)

I, Pat Zeigler, will my ability to be Co-editor of the Medita to Karen Fisher.

As we were crossing the path we saw something move, and to satisfy our curiosity we decided to see what it was. What else, but Mary Ella Shivley and Steven Spickelmier having a race on the vines of the jungle.

Then we saw a traveling band wagon with Rex Clark trying to sell his famous candy bar, made from delicious snake and alligator scales, and Sharon Miller selling No-Kink shampoo. The victims of these hard working sellers were Nancy Alford, a lover of rarities, and Gerald Quick, a boy with a hair problem respectively.

Our next stop was the exquisite vine-covered hut of Barbara Harrell and Betty Little. As we arrived at their modern hut, we were greeted by their jungle keepers, Dick Lahr and Glenn Beady. To our disappointment, the girls were not home so we extended our best wishes to their keepers and went on our way.

For the evening's entertainment, we were taken to the Cocabanana Nite Club, where we spotted Lois Paxton and Pam Wiley doing their version of the exotic twist. As we got closer, we heard Margaret Krider singing "The Witch Doctor" accompanied by Jerry Wagner playing on his spineless vertebrae.

As our guides led us to the gate watched by Jerry Phillips, we were given a lovely corsage created from stinkweeds by Tom Miller and wished a fond farewell. We must confess that we were happy to return to civilization and good food again.

"Off the Track" a three act comedy with fast moving action has its setting in a tiny waiting room of a small wayside railroad station. There has been a wreck on the line and there is no other refuge from the storm. What a conglomerate mixture of people is thrown together to wait for the relief train. Without food the group becomes restless and are thrown into pandemonium when Mrs. Vandeventer discovers that her valuable necklace is missing. Bill Lindsay holds trial and with the aid of inquisitive Miss Pidgie, they clear Mrs. Guarino, the suspect. The pearls had fallen into the lunchbasket of Mrs. Guarino while the haughty Mrs. Vandeventer was foraging for food which Mrs. Guarino had in her basket.

FINDERS CREEPERS

A mystery-comedy in three acts presented on March 30 by the class of 1962 kept the audience in suspense because of Hercules. A long awaited visit to the home of his uncle and aunt which should have been a joy to all turned into something more than fun when he invites his bosom pal to accompany him. What should have been a surprise to the relatives turns into a fright for the boys when they discover that the uncle is a mortician. One of the "guests" walks around and even pals with Hercules. The "guest" Jason Quigley is actually trying to trick the person or persons who has tried to do away with him in his sleep by playing dead then show up at his own funeral and trap the guilty party. Herc' is all for leaving until he sees the grand-daughter of Jason and BOOM, just like that he decides to stay. The plan was good and things should have ended peacefully but two things failed: the grand-daughter finds out, tips off the family and everything is messed up. Uncle Bob is implicated and put in jail, but the boys come face to face with the culprit and just escape with their necks. The play had one of the wildest finishes ever.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The student council was organized to be of service to the students of the upper six grades.

This year the council sponsored a project called "Penny Pitch" whose funds were donated by all of the classes instead of the gift exchange at Christmas time. This fund was used to purchase pigs which were shipped to the island of St. Lucia in the Lesser Antilles of the Caribbean.

The council also sponsored the sale of "Bearcat Bookcovers" and "Bearcat Badges". Proceeds from these sales provided printed programs for the home basketball games and financed several assembly programs.

The students heard Oscar Gren, a Swedish immigrant, on September 22 and Charles King, singer, on October 21. The elementary grades were entertained by Henry Maar, the Balloon Man on January 11 and the Bucknell Marionettes on February 26. On March 5 scenes from plays called "Contrasts in Shakespeare" were enjoyed by the high school and on May 2, the memory expert, Orville Fitzgerald spoke on "Mind in Action".

SCHENKEL'S

We Become Alumni

In the fall of 1950, sixty scared, but eager students faced their teachers, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Musgrave. These twenty-four were to continue here and spend all twelve years in the same building: Nancy Alford, Robert Emley, Leah Glascock, Ed Hacker, Barbara Harrell, Jack Hiple, Ron Kimmel, Margaret Krider, Kathy Kelley, Stanley Landrum, Ronald Mason, Connie Mickley, Jerry Miller, Patte Oden, Kathleen Orr, Jerald Phillips, Marlene Reifert, Mary Ella Shivley, Ed Waters, Pamela Wiley, Roxie Yake, Patricia Zeigler, Dick Riggars and Mary Ann Settlemyre.

After discovering that school wasn't so bad we entered the second grade. Ray Gordon, Richard Lahr, Gary Mickley and Lois Paxton joined us this year and Kathy Kelley left. Our teachers were Mrs. Vernerder and Mrs. Ensminger.

When we entered the third grade we were well acquainted with school. Glenn Beady, William Elett, Marcella Hefner and Charles Milholland joined us this year and Kathy Kelley returned. Our teachers were Mrs. Vernerder and Mrs. Brown.

In the fourth grade our teachers were Miss Gesaman and Mrs. Hauenstein. This year Steven Spickelmier, Diana Hillegas and Tom Oldfield joined our class.

In the fifth grade just one new student joined us. This student was Jim Durham. Our teachers were Mrs. Hauenstein and Mrs. Mickley.

In the sixth grade we were divided as usual with Mrs. Mickley and Mr. Wohlford as our teachers. The two students who joined us this year were Sharon Miller and Richard Goebel.

By the time we reached Junior High we were feeling very important because now we were going from room to room for our classes and having our first class activities. These were skating parties with Mrs. Frances Lawver for our sponsor. Jean Ann Lewis joined our group this year.

When we entered the eighth grade Mrs. Isobel Kreiger became our sponsor and two more were added to our roll. These new members were Tom Miller and Janet Gray.

Entering the ninth grade was no problem for we thought we knew everything but what a surprise was in store for us. Studies were really becoming more difficult. Mr. Strong and Mrs. Virginia Clark were the sponsors for the class. Rex Clark joined the class in our freshman year.

The Sophomore year seemed longer than the others because we were not upper classmen. Carol Bryant and Kay Harper joined the class this year and Mrs. Helen Kreiger and Mr. Sell were our sponsors.

Many new jobs awaited us in our Junior year. This was to be our money making year because we would have the Junior-Senior banquet in the spring. We sold magazine subscriptions and boxed candy as a major project and had the concessions at the ball games and during the lunch period. Mrs. Shideler and Mr. Sell were our sponsors and Wayne Whitney and Gerald Quick joined our group.

We finally reached our goal, our Senior Year, with Mr. Sell and Mr. Wohlford to direct us through the many activities. Programs to plan, selecting our caps and gowns, selling greeting cards, drawing for cakes at ball games, our Senior Trip to plan, check room for patrons at the "fish fry" were a few of the items we found to do. We were able to wedge a few class parties into our busy schedule. More names were added to the class roll again this year. Jerry Wagner, Wanda Waters, Diana McVoy, Brenton Quinn, and Carol Poehler made our class enrollment fifty-one as we prepared to finish our school days at Huntington Township High School.
